THE NARROW SLIP.

ARNOLD'S NAME ON AN UNSIGNED COMMISSION.

BUT THERE THE DOCUMENT STANDS.

Renewed Activity Among the Members of the Georgia Colony—Secretary Rush as a Rat Killer.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—[Special.]—Colonel Buck, before leaving the city, evidently persuaded the president that Dr. Arnold should be appointed collector of internal revenue. The result was that on Friday last the president authorized the appointment of Dr. Arnold which, however, was not exactly in accordance with the wish of Secretary Windom. The latter, however, authorized the mailing out of the commission, which was done, but is yet unsigned. In the meantime, however, the secretary instructed some of his subordinates to make a thorough examination of the papers of the respective applicants, and if there were no good reasons why Dr. Arnold should not be appointed, the commission should be sent to the white house for the president's signature. The friends of the other candidates in some manner became possessed of information.

REGARDING THE SITUATION.

In the department, and at once went to work to show cause why he should not be appointed. Consequently the matter is hung up pending investigation, and it is not yet certain that Dr. Arnold will be appointed, though the unsigned parchment commission contains his name, which, however, would be signed by Mr. Huston, who succeeds Hyatt as receiver of public printer. Mr. Palmer, entered upon the discharge of their new duties this morning. There was no ceremony beyond taking the oath of office and the usual introduction of officers and employees of each of the bureaus to the president.

BOYLE'S FEARFUL CRIME.

He Is Arraigned in Court—The Great Extent of the People.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 13.—[Special.]—It is a remarkable proof of the law-abiding and law-loving character of the people of Raleigh that the president's outing may be the cause of Dr. Arnold's defeat. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Tichenor has been industrious in doing what he could to appoint as collector of internal revenue Prime Culver, now of Atlanta, but only a few years ago a resident of LaFayette, Ind., who knew Culver, Mr. Culver is recommended for the place by the Armour Glue company, of Chicago, who used to sell glue to Tichenor when he was in trade. Culver is in the soup badly, no matter whether Dr. Arnold is knocked out or stays in.

RUSH AS A RAT-KILLER.

Secretary Rush has added another chapter to his laurels as a practical farmer. It will be recalled that a few days ago he astonished the employees of his department by taking a hand in mowing the lawn in front of the building, but his latest exploit is a shade the best.

For some time the white house has been infested with rats, and while the plumbing was being arranged this spring an unsuccessful attempt was made to rid the executive mansion of the vermin. Secretary Rush heard of the trouble and when the president and family left on their recent excursion the secretary declared he had rid many a barn of rats, and he guessed he would try a shot at the white house. He sent over to the department and had the chemist.

MIX UP A HORRIBLE COMPOUND.

of phosphorous corn meal and arsenic, and it was taken to the white house. Last night it was applied all about the building, and when the president returned this evening the employees had their hands full carrying away dead rats.

Rush is proud of his rat poison, and says that a Wisconsin farmer can do up a high-priced plumber any day in clearing out vermin.

COLONEL AVERY'S RETURN.

Colonel I. W. Avery, who has been absent for a month at a private hospital in Boston, has returned to his post, as chief of the public debt division, first auditor's office. Colonel Avery shows marked improvement and his friends believe now that he will be entirely restored to health.

VERY UNEASY.

Lester the Appointee Should be Taken From Their Hands.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—[Special.]—The organization of the new civil service commission today once more established a board that has sadly languished for the past three months. There are plenty of indications that the board intends to start out in a fresh way by endeavoring to get the clerical appointments in the census bureau put under the civil service regulations. The bureau is embraced within the interior department, and both Secretary Noble and Superintendent Porter are apprehensive lest the appointments should slip away from them through the over-cautiousness of the new civil service commission to make a showing.

The last time successfully. Her condition tonight is very alarming. She is bruised all over and has lost a great deal of blood.

Boyle is a priest at the church, and his horrible crime has so affected Father Reilly, the senior priest, that his death may result. Boyle's lawyer from Philadelphia is expected to return from the circuit court, and is connected with some of the most prominent men in the country. The feeling against him is universal, and there is a strong desire to see him lynched.

GOVERNOR FOWLE WAS TODAY WAITED UPON

BY counsel for Whitaker in this case against Boyle and asked to order a special term of the Superior court at once to try the case.

He will order a special term, as the regular term will be held on Saturday.

Excitement is increasing rather than abating. The evidence of Boyle's guilt is overwhelming, and the gallows stares him in the face.

HE WAS A GREAT COOK.

The Death of Jessup Whitehead the Great Cook.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., May 13.—[Special.]—The standard cook books died here last night after a few days' illness, aged fifty-four. He was a native of England, coming to New Orleans in 1852, when he had followed cooking with his master, Mr. and Mrs. John Jessup, who had also some slaves. He had been telegraphed to Philadelphia, had not arrived. Ordinarily, said the counsel, a continuance would be asked for, but under the circumstances the examination would be waived.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 14 1889.

Our New Railroad Alliance.

The stockholders of the Georgia Improvement company decided last night to transfer the Atlanta and Florida road to the American Investment company. The Constitution has urged that this step should not be taken until other resources had been tried and the fullest investigation had. This has been done, and with unanimity Colonel Hawkins's proposition is accepted at the best. The Constitution now joins hands with our new allies and will do everything in our power to bring these projects to success.

Here is what Atlanta will gain! The American Investment company now has about 135 miles of road stretching from Louisville to Abbeville on the Altamaha. This road runs through a very rich country, passes such towns as Americus and Cordele, and at Abbeville meets a fleet of five boats which run to Savannah and Brunswick. Atlanta has the Atlanta and Florida road reaching from Atlanta to Fort Valley.

Colonel Hawkins proposes to connect these two links by immediately building the link of 42 miles to connect these lines. He feels sure that the work can be finished in time to move the fall crops. Atlanta will then have—instead of a disconnected link of 100 miles—a line reaching 235 miles into a splendid country, and connecting with a fleet of five river steamers. More than this. She will have connection with the Georgia Southern road, reaching from Macon to Valdosta, which opens up another territory.

But Colonel Hawkins does not propose to stop with this. He will not only extend the Atlanta and Florida from Fort Valley to Cordele, but he will extend his road from Abbeville to Savannah. This line is now being surveyed and will be assuredly built and will give Atlanta a new and independent line to Savannah, 13 miles shorter than the present route. It is proposed to build also from Louisville to Montgomery, only 100 miles, and also to Tallahassee, where there is connection with the gulf at St. Marks.

This whole system of roads, connecting Atlanta with the capitals of Alabama and Florida—with the gulf at St. Marks and the ocean at Savannah—and with almost every part of southern Georgia—will require less than 600 miles of which 240 are already built. Colonel Hawkins states positively he has his arrangements made for completing the whole system. This will give him a line from Montgomery to the ocean 100 miles shorter than any other—and 50 miles shorter from Birmingham to the ocean than any other. The present and proposed lines—called the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery route—runs almost exactly on the 32d parallel, and is the ideal route proposed by Mr. Stephens as the first great trans-continental line. About 200 miles are yet to be built to complete the direct east and west connection from Savannah, Ga., to San Diego, Cal., and Colonel Hawkins insists he will build this distance.

So much for what is promised. We shall assuredly get the connection from Fort Valley to Abbeville and the Altamaha river. We shall in every probability get the extension to Savannah, which gives us a new line to the ocean. This is said to be certain, and probably is. There is reasonable probability that we shall have also a new line to Montgomery, and another to Florida and the gulf.

The Constitution has long predicted that there would be, and steadily urged that there should be, a consolidation of the independent lines in Georgia under one control or alliance, and the connecting of every line by building in the broken gaps. The transfer of the Atlanta and Florida last night is an important step in this direction. We have the best authority for saying that the gap from Cedartown to Atlanta will be built. This will give, with Colonel Hawkins's plant most finished, an independent line from Chattanooga to Savannah, with ramifications into nearly every part of the state. It is significant that, this very morning, a train is put on in Americus that runs direct to Athens without touching the Central road or its dependencies. The work of consolidation and upbuilding is going on surely if not rapidly, and the time is not far distant when the west, the ocean and the gulf, and practically every point in the state, will be connected by a new and competing system, running by shorter and directer lines and working under very much lighter fixed charges than the lines owned or leased by the Central. This time we shall do all in our power to confirm and hasten. In the meantime, let us help the Americans folks in the work we have unanimously confided to their keeping, and keep our eye on Cedartown for a new northerly connection, and on Monticello for a move to the east.

Coolie Bagging Must Go.

There can be no doubt that the jute bagging trust has butted its brains out against the wall created by the cotton planters of the south. The jute trust had a very easy time of it last year, but even then the farmers' alliance had the nerve to fight it and destroy some of its prospective profits. This year the alliance took time by the forelock, warned by the threats of the trust, and has proceeded to make up a programme that will cause the jute bagging manufacturers a great deal of trouble, even if it does not push them to the wall.

The farmers of Georgia and South Carolina have already decided to take four million yards of cotton bagging, such as can be readily supplied by mills in Georgia and Louisiana, and now the farmers of Louisiana pledge themselves to take two million yards more, making six million yards for the three states.

This action definitely settles the jute trust trouble. Even if the farmers of no other cotton state were to move in the matter—though they will all fall into line heartily—the jute trust would be destroyed. The loss on the sales of six million yards would cut such a hole in the profits of the combine that the mills which have stocks on hand would be glad to sell jute bagging to the farmers at a greatly reduced price; but the alliance men are pledged not to buy jute bagging on any terms, so that the bagging trust may be said to have crawled into a very deep hole and pulled it in after them.

But the alliance movement is more far-reaching than any attempt to break up the jute trust could be. It contemplates happier results than the mere breaking up of a jute bagging combine; it contemplates the creation of a new market for the lower grades of cotton which will be used in the manufacture of bagging; and it will, in fact, give to the south a new industry.

The exchanges and the cotton insurance companies appear to favor the change, and there seems to be no reason whatever why the southern cotton planters should not forever give up the use of coolie bagging.

The Formal Opening of the New Capital.

Some time ago THE CONSTITUTION suggested that it would be eminently proper for Governor Gordon, President duBignon of the senate, and Speaker Clay of the house, after consultation among themselves, to arrange a programme for the formal occupation by the state of the new capital building.

Since then, Mr. duBignon has not only announced his willingness to co-operate in the arrangement of such a programme, but he has conferred with Mr. Clay, and it may be said that since these two well known gentlemen have interested themselves in the matter, there is no doubt that the occasion of the formal opening of the new building will be made an event of unusual interest to the entire state. Governor Gordon has been absent from the state for some time, but will no doubt co-operate with the president of the senate and the speaker of the house, and the result of the work of these three distinguished officers will lend an official dignity to the programme for the occasion, which will bring thousands of Georgians to Atlanta.

Captain Fox has gone in for old blood. He remembers the days when the Gate City's sweep up the earth with everything that can harm us, and he has, with the assistance of his trusty lieutenant, "Billy" Sparks, secured a nine of the old-timers.

Captain Harris is, on the other hand, a stickler for young blood. His nine contains well known young men who say they can play ball. Whether this statement is true or not time alone can tell.

Who will win? Wait and see. It will be worth waiting for.

The name of Brer Fox's team have been announced. Brer Rabbit will select his men from the following: J. Carroll Payne, R. E. Lawshe, Harry Johnson, C. R. Joyner, Tom Lester, C. H. Harris, Joe Ooh, Will Hill, Fred Allen and Amos Baker.

Look out for the boys!

And, above all, go out to the game. It will be worth seeing.

Each year as "a measure inaugurated by Judge Hook." The law of 1857, passed before my appointment to my present position, requires these public examinations, and imposes upon the state school commissioners the duty of preparing the questions to be used.

While I am pleased that one so competent to judge as "Magister" evidently is, should speak so favorably of the way in which I have performed my duty, I am reassured myself that I feel that the worse course for the state to pursue, would be to establish two good, well equipped institutions—one for white teachers, and one for colored teachers, this more easily and fully meet the demand for competent teachers now so urgent. The outfit which the state would make in this way would be overbalanced and huddled told by the accrediting bureaus.

PEOPLE HERE AND THERE.

F. JOSEPH:—Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria, has paid the debts of his son, the dead crown prince. They amounted only to about $2,500,000.

CHILDS:—George W. Childs, of Philadelphia, was sixty years old Sunday. Everybody in the country wishes him continued health and happiness.

O'DRISCOLL:—Li Hung Chang, the Chinese diplomatist, is suffering from a trouble that creates great thirst, and brings on redness of the eyes. He probably just got off a jaunty spree.

PLATT:—Thomas C. Platt, the New York boss, has written a letter attacking civil service reform. Platt is a republican, but he knows that republican civil service reform is a fraud.

STEVENSON:—Robert Lewis Stevenson is in prime health. He may leave the Sandwich Islands soon, but he may never leave them. He has been making a will writing another for the New York Ledger.

SULLIVAN:—John L. Sullivan has been yanked out of New York city to be sobered up.

HILL:—David B. Hill, according to the New York Sun, is the foremost democratic governor of the day. What is the matter with the governors of North and South Carolina?

THE FUN TODAY.

Great Game of Baseball at Peters Park—A Good Time.

Brer Fox and Brer Rabbit!

They will both be at Athletic park this afternoon—they and their friends.

You can't afford to miss it.

The grand game of ball for the benefit of the Confederate veterans' home will be played this afternoon at Athletic park. It will doubtless be a great game—whether or not it will certainly to worth the price of admission to see the old boys and the young ones differing about the diamond where once the festive John Patrick Cahill was wont to disrupt.

Mr. Atwood grieved a great deal over his failure, and made several attempts to repair his broken fortunes, but none of his plans succeeded, and he grew more despondent. Finally he became convinced that he was completely and entirely fit for nothing else.

For seven weeks he remained at Atlanta, and during the time immediately preceding his departure he addressed several congregations in different parts of the city.

Finally he decided to go to Cincinnati and remain there the joint business, and he and his family moved to that place about two months ago. Nothing has been heard from him until his arrival here Saturday.

HIS MENTAL CONDITION.

It is the opinion of Mr. Atwood's friends that his mind is gradually failing. His brother Red Men notified the police to look out for him. Chief Connolly told his men to look after him. Captain Connolly told his men to look after him, and he and his family moved to that place about two months ago. Nothing has been heard from him until his arrival here Saturday.

HIS MENTAL CONDITION.

He was quiet and showed no indications of doing anything out of the way, he was not arrested. All those who know Mr. Atwood feel assured that Mr. Atwood is in the best of health.

The officers of the Confederate Veterans' association are: President, W. Lowndes Calhoun; vice-president, Hugh H. Colquitt; secretary, J. F. Edwards; treasurer, Dr. Amos Fox; surgeon, Dr. C. K. Divine, and historian, Judge R. L. Rodgers.

MR. ATWOOD RETURNS.

HE STATES THAT HIS WIFE REFUSED TO LIVE WITH HIM.

After a short stay in Cincinnati he determined to come back and make Atlanta his home until he can make money to go West.

Mr. C. S. Atwood has returned to Atlanta. He arrived here Saturday and registered at the Kimball house.

Yesterday morning he left the hotel, and he is still in the city, and expresses an intention to remain in Atlanta. He looked pretty badly travel-worn, when seen by a CONSTITUTION reporter yesterday, and seemed to be rather down-hearted. He applied to several banks and tried to raise some funds on checks that he had, but being disappointed, he went to Mr. John H. James and tried to get some money on a little over a hundred dollars' worth of stock of the Central bank block which he had in his possession.

Mr. James referred him to the officers of the bank, and he applied to them. The stock was held in his wife's name, and the officers decided that it was not negotiable unless the transfer was signed by Mrs. Atwood.

THE CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

Will Give a Grand Picnic at Vinings' Next Thursday.

The first annual picnic of the Confederate Veterans' association promises to be a great success.

It will take place at Vinings' station on Thursday, May 16, at 8 a.m. sharp, and ample transportation will be provided for all who attend.

Everybody is cordially solicited to go and carry all their friends with them.

The veterans propose to make this picnic the biggest event of the season. All kinds of recreation will be provided.

There will be lawn tennis, racket, dancing, music, etc., under the auspices of a committee of Atlanta's leading young men. A grand balloon ascent will take place at 12 m. and a camp meeting will be held in the camp grounds by the old veterans, and several distinguished gentlemen will deliver addresses. A number of lady chaperones will be in attendance.

Everything will be done to make this the most attractive picnic ever given in the history of Atlanta.

Mr. Atwood has had a rather varied career. He came from his birthplace in Massachusetts some years ago, formed a joint stock company and started the Evening Capitol, a bright and breezy little paper that made friends and money right along. But its prosperity was not lasting, and at last it went to pieces.

Mr. Atwood grieved a great deal over his broken fortunes, but none of his plans succeeded, and he grew more despondent. Finally he became convinced that he was completely and entirely fit for nothing else.

CARDINAL GIBBONS'S VISIT.

The Programme of the Day in Atlanta—The Receptions Today.

His Eminence, Cardinal Gibbons, will be the guest of Atlanta today.

Cardinal Gibbons will reach Atlanta at 6:30 this morning, and will proceed at once to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, where he will celebrate mass.

During the morning the cardinal will visit the convent school. Here one of the scholars will read an address of welcome, this to be replied to by the distinguished visitor.

Mrs. Rhode Hill gives reception in his honor in the evening. This will undoubtedly be an elegant affair.

Besides the stockholders of the Georgia Improvement company, there were present Colonel S. B. Hawkins, H. C. Bagley and Colonel Hollis, representing the American Investment company.

In assuming the chairmanship of the meeting, Judge Hoyt made a few appropriate remarks, urging the importance of all these present acting in harmony, saying that unless all acted in unity the good results of the meeting would be greatly impeded and the whole enterprise endangered.

The principal object for which the meeting had been called was to consider the proposition of the American Improvement company to purchase the stock of the Atlanta and Florida railroad.

A band of music will play the carriages from the Flaggmont park and music will be heard at the floral battle. After drive around the main tail with their invited guests in past.

THE PLACE TO BUY A WATCH

It pays to keep up appearances. To look shabby condemns a man. Look prosperous even if you are not. A watch goes far toward giving a man an air of respectability, and considering how cheap good watches are now sold, there is little excuse for being without one. Think of this and then call and interview us.

It seems that A. Daus, the popular saloonist, is running a streetcar line through his garden, as far as pure liquor and soft music is concerned. For it seems, from the style of music and the quality of beer and the crowd that assembled there last night, that he is running a "El. 11," as he uses Cook and Meierhen celebrated beer.

A FAMOUS GEORGIA CASE DECIDED BY THE SUPREME COURT.

The Bondsman of the Late Frank Gray, as Administrators, Are Relieved by the United States Supreme Court—It Reverses a Former Decision.

The famous Veach-Rice case has been decided by the United States supreme court. The court reverses the decision of the court below.

And Mr. Frank Gray's bondsmen are not responsible for the sixty thousand dollars, as decided by the special master.

This case is one of great interest to a great many people. The case in the supreme court was entitled James M. Veach et al. vs. Rice and wife, an appeal from the decision of Judge Pardon and the special master.

The facts in the case seem to be:

Rice married the daughter of the late Lewis Tumlin, who died in 1875, in Barrow county. Frank P. Gray, Tumlin's son-in-law, and John Erwin were appointed his administrators.

After serving eight or nine months, Tumlin resigned, and Frank P. Gray was appointed successor, giving a new bond.

The joint bond of Gray and Erwin was in the sum of $50,000. James M. Veach, J. J. Howard, A. W. Mitchell, Dr. Bosphorus, with others, were upon this joint bond.

During this joint administration a large part of this estate, to-wit, the lands, was distributed in kind among the heirs of Lewis Tumlin.

After Frank P. Gray became sole administrator he went on administering the estate, which was involved in a great deal of litigation, and at the end of five or six years of his administration Rice and wife, of Nashville, Tenn., filed a bill in the United States court in Atlanta, charging various frauds and improper appropriations of the sole administration by Gray.

A special master was appointed to take charge of this, and after about two years he made a report, holding that Gray was liable to the estate in the sum of $50,000, principal, interest and cost; and holding further that the securities on the joint bond, who had been discharged by the ordinary when Erwin resigned, were liable, notwithstanding that discharge, for all the delinquencies of Frank P. Gray in his sole administration.

This presented the main matter of dispute in the case. Quite a large number of intricate questions arose in the case besides this main one.

Judge Pardee affirmed the report of the auditor, and from this decree of the court James M. Veach, A. W. Mitchell and others took an appeal to the United States supreme court.

On Lot 1 is a stately brick building with basement, 2 stories on ground floor, 22-room boarding-house, etc., etc.

On Lot 2 is a one-story frame store house, 60x20, 11-room, well-superior house, with gas, etc.
